Mahyu provides a history record feature enabling each user to maintain a record of their digital transactions using the work order number as the main identifier. This feature facilitates tracing of the logistics transaction from its origin to the destination country.

Transporter/Forwarder and Shipper users will have full control over their data, which is securely stored and cannot be altered by any party. This eliminates the need to maintain paper documents.

Digital Logistics Infrastructures

Business - Summary

- The logistics industry, representing 10.7% of global GDP in 2020, was valued at over $9.4 trillion in 2023. It's projected to exceed $15.9 trillion by 2032, underscoring its essential role as a core component for businesses and consumers and as a critical backbone for both domestic and international trade.
- It's time to replace traditional human work methods like sales visits, operational instructions, back-office administration, scheduling work orders, and pricing strategy issuance with technology. A system can automate and streamline these processes, offering greater efficiency and accuracy.
- Mahyu's new technology infrastructure is revolutionizing the logistics industry by integrating traditional companies into a digital logistics ecosystem. This transformation promotes collaboration and highlights the importance of integration between Mahyu and established businesses for future growth and increased efficiency.
- Mahyu is a technology company that strengthens traditional logistics businesses instead of competing with them. By leveraging a dynamic, scalable cloud-based platform, Mahyu helps these companies increase efficiency, control budgets, and boost profitability, enabling them to better serve a borderless marketplace.

Thank You

The landscape of both our professional and social lives has undergone a significant transformation due to technological advancements. Companies that have the capability to leverage this shift, moving from manual processes to autonomous ones, are well-positioned for success in their respective fields.

This presentation illustrates the processes and features of Mahyu's infrastructure-platform, showcasing its capabilities and benefits, which support domestic land transport and international air transport, warehouse services, and eCommerce logistics. As the platform's algorithm design, structure approach, and manipulation process are constantly enhanced, please be aware that not all features and capabilities within the platform can be displayed due to the intellectual property and copyright privacy of Mahyu LLC.
